

First of all thank you Chester sir for letting us do this project as an OS course project.

Arihant and I first installed Anbox on our laptops. We both then had several online meetings to go through the source code and we made rough notes in a shared doc. Then we split the job of writing the report equally among us.